We collided with this wine at a Qantas tasting to identify the best wines flying first class and we and all of the other judges immediately voted it forward. This is sheer winemaking brilliance, with black fruits and spice laid out in all their glory; it's the sort of wine you should drop into a dinner party between two recognised heroes and watch people scratch their heads in disbelief. Pannell has got it, whatever 'it' is and this wine has 'it' in spades. Crack on.
